DYSPEPSIA.

It is misery experienced when we suddenly become aware that we possess a diabolical organism called a stomach.

The stomach is the reservoir from which every fibre and tissue must be nourished, and any trouble with it is soon felt throughout the whole system.

Among a dozen dyspepsias no two will have the same predominant symptoms. Dyspepsia is a general term and a slight temperament are subject to Sick Headache; those, fleshy and phlegmatic have Constipation, while the thin and nervous are abandoned to gloomy forebodings. Some dyspepsias are wonderfully forgetful, others have great irritability of temper.

Whatever form Dyspepsia may take, one thing is certain.

The underlying cause is in the LIVER.

THE CHIBCHAS.

An Ancient People of South America

About Whom Little is Known.

The rich regions of the Aztecs were discovered in 1519, and the conqueror of Montezuma was already returning to Spain when Pizarro set sail for Peru.

In 1532 the empire of the Incas was entirely overthrown, while in 1536 there still existed, unknown to the world, upon the high tablelands of the eastern cordillera of the Andes an agricultural people composed of more than a million souls, possessing populous cities, fortified places and paved roads; an established priesthood with temples, altars and sacrifices; an organized, hereditary government and a standing army; an approximate computation of time and various industries, and no little intelligence in husbandry.

Over this growing civilization of the Chibchas the conquest swept like a hurricane, devastating villages, arches, manufactures and cultivated fields—dispersing the bones and annihilating the traditions of the miserable Indians.

In the course of a few years they were deprived of their independence, their chiefs, their liberty and even of their language, at the hands of the most cruel, blind and persistent persecutions; their very name was stricken from the catalogue of existing nations, their descendants were condemned to complete oblivion of their origin, while the antiquarian was left in the doubt and confusion of fabulous ages with respects to events which immediately preceded this epoch.

The hurriedly written narratives of the conquerors speak of the grandeur of the "Valley of Castles"—Bogota, so called because of the high edifices of its cities; of the extensive salt mines of Zipaquira; of the potteries of Tinjaca, and especially of the great riches, the golden decorations and the upright mummies covered with fine mantles, that were inclosed in the temple of Summo, the principal sanctuary of the Chibchas. Nor were these descriptions exaggerated.

In our day there have been found in ancient sepulchres the most delicate cotton fabrics, well preserved mummies, elaborately carved wooden articles of furniture, exquisite vases of baked earth, often imitating the human form and the figures of animals, and an infinite variety of golden ornaments and images. Beyond doubt the Chibchas had attained the third place in the civilization of aboriginal America; yet volumes have been written upon the Aztecs and Incas, while the name of this enlightened contemporary is almost unknown. They are said to have been denominated Chibchas because of the frequent recurrence of the syllables "chi" and "cha" in their tongue, but Humboldt calls them Muiscas or Moscas.

According to the distinguished historian Acosta, the term muiscas merely signified "people" in their language, and muiscas (Castilian for "fly") was probably a corruption of the former, or because of the great number that appeared before and endeavored to stay the progress of the handful of Spaniards led by Quesada. As successful as Cortez or Pizarro, unlike them, this famous captain was never rewarded with the coveted marquisate of Spain, and has lacked the master hand of Prescott to portray the thrilling incidents of his no less remarkable conquest.—Lieut. H. R. Lemly in Century.

A Powerful Glass.

In one of the Confederate companies at Charleston there was a blue eyed young Englishman full of merriment and waggishness.

One of his tricks was to mimic pompous officers, who sometimes stalked around the forts with their gold mounted field glasses, in a way that would bring down the house if done on the stage in comedy.

He usually wore slung over his shoulder three points of cane in imitation of a field glass, and one day, after a long study of the enemy through the pretended magnifier, he dropped the instrument, leaped from the observatory where he stood and alighted among a crowd of men watching him from below.

His face was the picture of alarm, and when asked what the matter was he answered, hysterically:

"The matter? Why, I brought those Yanks so close up with my glass that I became frightened and ran off!"—Southern Bivouac.

superstitions.

A person who has not done anything to distinguish himself is generally not allowed queer habits. Eccentricity is not for common people. But for Washington Allston, one of America's most noted painters, all things were right. His excessive sensitiveness was shown in many ways.

When India rubber overshoes began to be worn he was induced to purchase a pair for his health's sake, but he could never put them on or remove them except with a pair of tongs.

But that same delicate sensitiveness showed itself in another way. His scrupulous conscience was illustrated by an incident occurring in 1816, when he was in urgent need of money.

He had just found a purchaser for one of his pictures, but thinking the matter over alone in the evening he concluded that the subject of the painting was such that at some time it might have an immoral effect on some perverted imagination.

He immediately went to his patron's house, paid back the money, took the picture home and burned it.

This was sensitiveness worth having.

—Youth's Companion.

It Spoiled the Play.

I remember a play that received its death blow in Louisville. It was a border drama called "The Man from Texas," written by a local newspaper man, and from the number of people killed in it I think it would have made a great hit at a morgue. The manager secured up a stock company for it— all variety folks, and the part of heroine was intrusted to a vocalist named Erba Robson. Erba was a fat, jolly fairy, who was a great favorite in such serio comic back numbers as "Never Take the Horseshoe from the Door," but you could no more imagine her as the heroine of a sensational drama than you could imagine Jack the Ripper conducting a lady's seminary. On the opening night the house was packed, principally with miners, and Erba's friends were out in force.

Everything went on smoothly until a portion of the drama was reached in which the heroine was supposed to refuse the advances of the villain, who had a mortgage on her papa's farm, and wanted to espouse her. Erba rolled her eyes and clawed the air. "I will accept no money offer for me hand!" she exclaimed in great shape.

"That's right!" yelled an enthusiastic miner in the gallery, "play yer hand out if you have better than ten spots!"

That knocked "The Man from Texas" in the head, and made Miss Robson so mad she threw up her part as soon as the curtain fell.—Interview in Atlanta Constitution.

A Queer Peach Tree.

"Did you ever see anything like this?" said Mr. E. E. Kirby, ticket agent of the East Tennessee road, as he held up a peach seed as large as a man's fist.

"Well, I know you haven't. There's a peach inside of that seed, and the tree on which this peach grew is the only peach tree that I ever heard of that, instead of growing the seed on the inside of the peach, grows the peach on the inside of the seed."

"Some years ago while I was visiting in south Georgia, I grafted a peach twig on an Australian cherry tree. The twig bore fruit, but the fruit apparently was nothing but seeds. It was not disturbed, however, until they had grown very large, when one of the seeds were pulled and broken open. On the inside was

A BILL that ought to become a law has been introduced in the lower House by Congressman Bowers. Its object is to prevent aliens from taking up public lands. It provides that no person shall be entitled to make an entry of any public land or to file any homestead claim or claim of any kind to public lands under any laws of the United States heretofore enacted except he be a citizen of the United States and a resident of the State or Territory wherein an entry of or filing upon public land is sought to be made, and he shall be a legally qualified voter in some State or Territory of the United States, provided that the wife, widow or daughter of any citizen of the United States is excepted from the provisions of the act, and such persons shall continue to enjoy all the rights and privileges now accorded to them by law.

News has been received from New York of the death in that city of Mrs. Caroline Larkin Tams, wife of Sampson Tams of San Francisco. The grip is ascribed as the cause of death. Her illness was of brief duration. Mrs. Tams was a daughter of the late Thomas O. Larkin, one of the best known Californians of early days. He was United States Consul at Monterey while California was a possession of Mexico, and it was his efforts which, in a great measure, secured this portion of the Pacific Coast to the United States.

Mrs. DELAGUERRA, the widow of Don Pablo Delaguerra, who was a prominent character in the early history of this state, is suing for the plaza on which the City Hall of Santa Barbara stands, a valuable piece of property in the center of the business portion, claiming the land by virtue of a grant made by the Ayuntamiento of the town in the 40's and confirmed in 1851 by the City Council.

Mrs. ADA MEINOTT of Grand Rapids, Mich., took her seventeen-year-old son to a dime museum, where one of the attractions is a William Tell act. On the following day she playfully put a potato on her head, remarking to the boy he couldn't shoot it off. The boy found a revolver, and the Coroner's verdict was that the woman was to blame.

It is stated that in 1890 the number of persons killed in India by snakes was 21,412, while the number of snakes slaughtered was 510,659.

Important to Fruit Growers.
An ordinance passed by the Board of Supervisors of this county at its recent session provides that no person or corporation, either as owner, agent, broker or otherwise shall bring from any place or places outside of Sonoma county any trees, plants, shrubs, scions, cuttings or grafts without giving written notice of their arrival within twenty-four hours thereafter to the horticultural commission of the county or to the local inspector of the district into which they are brought. And it further provides that these vines, plants, etc., brought to the county shall not be moved from the place of their arrival until they have been properly inspected. The inspection is provided for in the ordinance.

When notification has been received the horticultural commission or local inspector shall as soon as practicable examine the articles for which the notice was served. All such goods shipped into this county must bear a distinct mark or label, showing the name of the owner, agent or shipper, the name of the grower, and it is the duty of the county horticultural commission to enforce the rules of the commission.

As a penalty for violation of the ordinance provides that any person who does not comply with its provisions is guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be punished by confinement in the county jail not less than five days nor more than six months or by a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than $500, or both such fine and imprisonment.

The ordinance takes effect to-day.

Something for the New Year.

The world-renowned success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and their continued popularity for over a third of a century as a stomachic, is scarcely more wonderful than the welcome that greets the annual appearance of Hostetter's Almanac. This valuable medical treatise is published by the Hostetter company, Pittsburgh, Pa., under their own immediate supervision, employing 60 hands in that department. They are running about 11 months in the year on this work, and the issue of same for 1892 will be more than ten millions, printed in the English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish languages. Interesting reading concerning health, and numerous testimonials as to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, amusements, varied information, astronomical calculations and chronological items, etc., which can be depended on for correctness. The Almanac for 1892 can be obtained free of cost from druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the country.

Scrofula

Is more especially than any other hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of fatal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a potent remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which expels every trace of the disease and gives to the blood the quality and color of health. Get Hood's.

When my boy was two years old he was attacked and suffered a long time with scrofula sores. The physician at length told us to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, which we did. Two bottles cured him. He is now 10 years old and has not had any sign of scrofula since. We recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all our friends." Mrs. E. C. CLIPPEN, 8 Kloder St., Cleveland, O.

MRS. GRAHAM'S CUCUMBER and ELDER FLOWER CREAM.

Is not a cosmetic in the sense in which that term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind, and prevents sun burns and freckles, and blackheads will not come while you use it. It cleanses the face for better than soap and water, and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of the skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady, and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as rose water. Price $2.00, all druggists and hair-dressers, or at Mrs. Gervaise Graham's establishment, 163 Post Street San Francisco, where she treats ladies for all blemishes of the face and figure. Ladies at a distance treated by letter. Send stamp for her little book "How to be beautiful."

SAMPLE BOTTLE mailed free to any lady on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to pay for postage and packing. Lady agents wanted.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1891.

Newspaper Callers.

The average citizen has very little idea of the number of calls which are daily inflicted upon the editor of a big newspaper. It is not with the colonel over five minutes, and during that time at least ten men called to see him on various matters. Men wanting positions, men with schemes and men with advice, men with favors to ask, men to borrow money and men with manuscripts to sell. They all insist upon seeing the editor, and each regards his business as the most important of the day.

It is a never ending stream, and each man is mortally offended if he is kept waiting or refused an audience, and yet newspaper men who are familiar with the manifold claims upon an editor's time are the loudest in their complaints about the "red tape" which compels them to send in their cards and state their business before they are admitted. They want to march right in to the editor's desk, roost on the edge of his table and compose themselves for a comfortable chat.

If a paper could be run without outside interruptions the editor would have an enjoyable time, but being the target for an assorted gang of cranks, bores and nuisances, he is obliged, in justice to himself and his readers, to hedge himself about with some protection. If men had more sense this would not be necessary.—Allen Forman in New York Journalist.

Witty and Pathetic Eugene Field.

Eugene Field, of Chicago, whose delicate humor and verses of pathos have given him a reputation not bounded by the confines of this country, is about forty-five years old. In personal appearance he is long and lank, and the hair on his head and face is not abundant. Few men probably possess wider extremes of character, and in nothing is this shown more plainly than in his writing and in his treatment of persons. He has made many enemies, his temptation to satirize friends as well as foes being under little restraint, while the propensity to play pranks which marked him while a schoolboy at Monson, Mass., is still strong in his nature.

The bump of veneration was evidently left out when he was made, and the higher the respectability of the victims of his jokes and jibes the keener seems to be the enjoyment of the perpetrator. But underlying this exterior is a tenderness for children which is touching. Mr. Field lives quietly with his family, and his home is filled with books, many of them strange old tomes, which none but a real book lover could crave.—Harper's Weekly.

Nature's Razor Strip.

There are now blooming in St. Augustine sixteen plants of the agave Victoria regina species, or what is commonly called the century plant. A towering column rises out of the center plant to the height of sixty feet, but it is often relegated to the rubbish heap as worthless, for the reason that as a thing of beauty it has no further charms for the eye. Yet many thousands of the starving people of the Old World utilize this shaft of the plant. They make use of it as a razor strip.

Mr. W. Chambers, auditor of the East Coast railway line, has had one in use for many years, and it shows not the slightest defect from wear and tear. The strip is made by taking the shaft of the agave and cutting it into lengths of twelve inches; these are split into four, or as many "quarters" as possible, allowing to each piece a sufficiency of the pulp or heart of the stalk to present a surface of not less than one inch, on which to strop a razor. The heart hardens in time and presents a fine, soft and naturally lubricated surface for stropping a razor.—Florida Times Union.

Tar and Feathers in 1889.

In England the penalty of tar and feathers was introduced in 1189, when Richard I, before setting out to preserve the discipline of his fleet, that whoever should be convicted of theft should first have his head shaved; that boiling pitch should then be poured upon it, and a cushion of feathers (de la plume d'oie) shaken over it. He was afterward to be put on shore at the first place the ship touched at; though, after a baptism of boiling pitch, the poor wretch, I fancy, would have little life left in him. In modern times the practice has found favor with the populace as a means of readily executing justice on an offender whom the law, perhaps, shows no anxiety to reach.—Gentleman's Magazine.

A Famous Clown.

"I have known in my life but one clown who was so naturally gifted as to justify the reputation that he gained both in this country and in Europe. That was Joe Blackburn, an uncle of the present member of Congress from Kentucky. He was an educated, cultivated man, possessing rare mother wit, a fine singer and a natural orator. He came from a good Kentucky family, went to Europe in 1842 and played in London, where he became a conspicuous figure in the clubrooms, and, although a circus clown, was recognized by the aristocratic men of the day, who were glad to enjoy his society."—Dan Rice in New York Epoch.

Family Objections Respected.

Old Friend—Why didn't you marry Sweet Girl—His father objected. Old Friend—I shouldn't have cared for that. Sweet Girl—Yes, but he said he would cut him off with a shilling.—Good News.

Consumption Cured.

A. Noyes, 580 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

"German Syrup"

J. C. Davis, Rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, Eufrasia, Ala.: "My son has been badly afflicted with a fearful and threatening cough for several months, and after trying several prescriptions from physicians which failed to relieve him, he has been perfectly restored by the use of two bottles of Boschee's German Syrup. I can recommend it without hesitation." Chronic severe, deep-seated coughs like this are as severe tests as a remedy can be subjected to. It is for these long-standing cases that Boschee's German Syrup is made a specialty. Many others afflicted as this lad was, will do well to make a note of this.

J. F. Arnold, Montevideo, Minn., writes: "I always use German Syrup for a Cold on the Lungs. I have never found an equal to it—far less a superior."

Perfectly Well!

FILLMORE, Dubuque Co. Ia., Sept. 1889. Miss K. Fillingim writes: "My mother and sister used Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic for neuralgia. They are both perfectly well now and never tired praising the Tonic."

DAYTON, Nov. 26, 1889. I was suffering from nervous debility, caused by dyspepsia. Didn't get more than three hours' sleep during any night. The effect of Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic was magical. I slept sound and am now as well as ever after taking only one bottle. As a Nerve Tonic, considering how harmless it is, I think it is the best medicine ever invented.

J. Sweeney writes: "I must cheerfully say that of all the Nerve Tonics which I have used during the last twelve years, Pastor Koening's is the best I ever used."
